We are living in an era of disruption with the rise of innovative start-ups transforming industries and bringing about a change in the economic landscape. New entrepreneurial companies are challenging established businesses by identifying unexploited niches in the marketplace and filling the gaps with agile, low-cost, and often digital solutions.

BJAA Startup Advisory Services can play an active, hands-on role to support the distinctive growth challenges disruptive businesses face at every stage of their business lifecycle. Our work can be structured on a project basis or as a part-time interim operating role.
